

Everything Is Possible If You Will Only Believe!

How long will you cling to the past, O weary one?
How long will you remain caught in its grip? The past is like 'ice' slowly melting away and nothing can 'fix' it. Why can't you go on? What is it that you fear the most?

Don't be afraid! I am the Lord!
Is there anything that's too hard for me? Is there anything that I cannot do? Look around you at all of the Creation, at all of the tiny details and care in which it is fashioned. How much more do I care for you?! You who are made in my image?

You are mine and mine alone!
Tell me, what have I done that you don't trust me? I want to know. I love you! I have never left you, why do you feel hurt or abandoned.
Come aside and know me.

Come aside from the 'busy-ness' of life and everything that has caused you to become so weary. Make time. I have longed to share some time with you and just talk. Why can't you talk to me? I get very lonely, too. It's easy, just share your heart and I will share mine. There's nothing that I won't do for you. I have already proven that.

So, tell me what's holding you back and I will hurry to perform it!
Only believe, that's all you have to do! And I will do it and you will know that it came from me. I will give you more than you ask for because I delight in you! All I ask is that you receive it with thankfulness.

I'm coming to see you soon.
I hope that you will be looking forward to it. I hope you're not ashamed of me, so many are. I have prepared a new place, a new beginning, just for you. It's wonderful and more than you can imagine right now. I hope that you will be willing and ready to go with me when I come so that I can bring you there. You will know when I come. I'm just asking you now to give you some time to get ready. I'm so excited! I can't wait!

Everything is possible if you will only believe!
